Debate budget tonight

Proposed GC budget figures based upon sewer fee hike

City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic confirmed at the Granite City budget caucus last week that the city's preliminary $11.2 million budget is based on a residential $9 per quarter sewer rate hike, but Alderman Paul Bowler, finance committee chairman, doubts that steep an increase can receive sufficient council votes to be approved.

Two different resident groups protesting further sewer increases presented petitions containing more than 1,500 signatures at last week's council meeting. One petition was presented by Bowler's Seventh Ward residents. A second petition was submitted by John Baker, 2330 Jerden Ave., primarily representing senior citizens.

The council tonight will hold its second caucus budget discussion at 6:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Debate last week on the sewage plant budget was kept to a minimum as aldermen devoted most of their budget caucus listening session to listening, rather than talking, while Comptroller Miklovic explained his new reorganizational approach and the contents of the budget.

Miklovic told aldermen the new budgeting system he has implemented and will continue to use had been recommended to city governments more than six years ago by the Municipal Financial Officers' Association.

Problems with the previous budget system were emphasized when aldermen tried to compare the two past years' budget figures with the new budget numbers. Among the barriers aldermen faced in their comparison efforts were the failure of some previous department salary figures to list true payroll expenditures.

Some past personnel budget items, instead, apparently excluded portions of the payroll that came from federal revenue sharing funds, did not include pay increases that were granted last year and did not include payroll taxes, which were lumped together in general government expenditures.

The most obvious difference between the former system and Miklovic's new approach is the removal of the ambulance division from the General Fund and its inclusion in a Proprietary Funds category, which also includes the Sewage Treatment Plant.

Miklovic said departments within the Proprietary Funds division should be self-sustaining.

All budget departments in the city are now in four main categories — personnel, supplies, contractual, and other — with about 74 percent of the budget locked into payroll and fringe benefits.

Miklovic said changes in his five-year budget project, still indicating a city debt during that time span, would have to come from the personnel category, either through layoffs or increased debt due to pay increases.

Each city department is grouped into one of six organizational units — general government, public safety, public works, health and welfare, omnibus, and enterprise (Proprietary Funds). Breakdowns follow.

GENERAL GOVERNMENT

Budgeted at $684,941, the general government category contains the executive, legislative, financial administration and other divisions of the city government, headed respectively by Mayor Paul Schuler, the aldermen and Miklovic. The unit also includes planning and zoning, covering the city contract with the Southwest Illinois

Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

Personnel expenses in the unit include the salaries and benefits for the executive department, which include the mayor, city clerk, and their clerical and legal staffs totaling $187,164; aldermanic salaries and benefits, totaling $40,100; and financial-other salaries and benefits totaling $248,627.

Alderman Sam Whitmer questioned the exclusion of the aldermanic $50 per month expense allowances, which last year aldermen had voluntarily discontinued. Whitmer told the comptroller the city ordinance establishing the monthly expenditure is still in effect and should be a budgeted item.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he thought that if any alderman decided to demand this expense allowance the money could be collected.

Whitmer also said the city attorney should be asked to bring in an ordinance formally eliminating expense allowances, which have been discontinued but still remain on the books for the police chief and city engineer and some other city employees. Whitmer said similar expenses for elected city officials and electrical and plumbing inspections should remain.

The general government budget includes $50,000 for capital outlay to cover an estimated $40,000 needed to repair or replace the city hall heating and ventilation system and $10,000 to add a new terminal to the city's computer system, making simultaneous use possible.

The budget lists $7,000 for the city's annual audit, which was not previously

Comptroller's first half year a 'challenge'

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Editor

"It's been quite a challenge." That's how Granite City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic, age 33, describes his first half year in the job of attempting to reorganize Granite City's financial policies and direction.

Miklovic, addressing the Granite City

Optimist Club Thursday afternoon, described some of the major challenges his new job has presented.

He told the Optimists that many of the city's financial records were kept in "shoebox" fashion before his hiring last December and it has been his job to sort through the jumbled mess and attempt to construct some kind of financial statement on the financial status of the city.

In addition to straightening out largely-ignored accounts payable to the city, such as reimbursements due from motorists who damaged city property, he had to attempt to recommend a future financial course for the city, which included the preparation of a tentative budget. That budget is to be considered by the city council tonight.

Major challenges Miklovic says he has faced, and actions taken to improve the situation, include:

— Ambulance billing. Miklovic told the Optimists that when he began overhauling the city's ambulance billing operation, he discovered that the city was losing money on nearly every ambulance run it was making. Particularly on runs outside of Granite City, the amount charged was "dramatically less than our expenses," he contended.

He said he recommended a rate structure reflecting the actual cost of maintaining the ambulance service, less depreciation on the equipment, and that the more realistic rate structure was subsequently adopted by the council. "Working that out to everyone's satisfaction was quite a challenge," he said.

However, spurred by questions from the council about the effects of possible

Reports downtown rape

A woman, carrying a 9-month-old baby, was raped and had her car stolen shortly after leaving the Overfest in downtown Granite City at 9:10 p.m. Friday.

She told Granite City police that while she was at the Overfest, she observed a man staring at her on the corner of 19th Street and Delmar Avenue.

It started to rain, so she carried her baby toward her car, which was parked in the 1800 block of Cleveland Boulevard.

She said that when she looked back, she saw the man who had been staring at her following her. She looked back a second time and did not see him.

After putting the baby in the car on the passenger side she went around and got in. When she did so, the man appeared, opened the back door and got in, she related.

She told him to get out, but he kept asking her, "Please, take me home. I only live a couple of blocks."

She reluctantly state she would and began to drive as he told her several places to turn and then told her to drive down a dead-end street, she believed was the 1900 block of Adams.

She told him she would not driving him all over town, turned off the ignition and started to get out of the car. He then grabbed her by her hair, pulling her neck back and stuck an unknown object to her neck, saying, "You'll drive where I want you to drive or I'll cut your throat," police were told.

He then had the victim drive alongside a fuel oil truck at the Olympic Gas Station parking lot 20th and Adams Street. The victim told police she was extremely afraid for her baby.

The assailant ordered her to get in the back seat and take her clothes off, she said, adding that he struck her several times on the face and back. He then forced her to engage in sex acts.

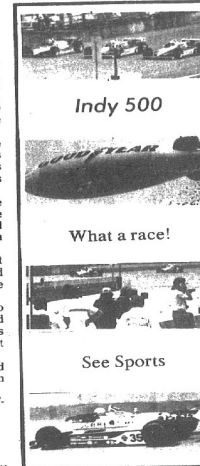

The baby started crying, the rapist then told her to "shut the baby up" and forced her to hold the baby while he continued to rape her.

The rapist then said he wanted to move to the front seat and, as he started to climb over, she saw that his trousers were around his ankles and he could not chase her.

She then, with baby in arms, bolted nude from the car and saw a man walking west on 24th street.

She yelled to the man, Danny Stef.

Petitions oppose sewer hike

Organized opposition to an increase in Granite City's sewer treatment charges is expected to play a role in discussion by the Granite City Council tonight of a proposed budget which needs the higher treatment fees to support it.

"Ninety-nine percent of the people (who were) asked signed the petitions against the raise," according to a Seventh Ward resident who gave the council one of two petitions last week opposing a possible 99 per quarter sewer treatment hike for residences. "If the whole town had been covered, we would have gotten 99 percent" of the response, the petitions were signed by more than 1,500 residents.

The higher residential rates and similar increases in commercial and industrial rates are the basis of this year's suggested $2.5 million Wastewater Treatment Plant budget, which by ordinance is required to be self-sustaining and maintain sufficient cash reserves.

The recent citizen protest follows last February's joint city-county appeal against higher sewer rates led by Nameoki Township Trustee Helen Hawkins and Lester Beyer.

Petitioner John Baker, 2330 Jerden Ave., spoke out before the council against the higher sewer rates for the second time in two weeks. He read the petition, which states "that an increase, if any, should be accompanied by an appropriate reduction of personnel in order to stave off or reduce future increases."

Baker cited the city's high rate of unemployment (16.5 percent in March) and a series of new and increased taxes here as reasons for the aldermen to give "serious consideration" to the petition request.

"The burden on us — especially on the poor, the aged, and those on fixed incomes — has become intolerable, unnecessary and unbearable," according to the two petitions, which carry the same cover statement.

A Seventh Ward resident, who wished his name to be withheld, said residents are weary of the series of tax increases. He also suggested employee reductions as a city budget-balancing answer.

The council recently approved an ordinance agreement with the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 525 barring layoffs below the current 26-member staff, although allowing for attrition reductions through retirements and resignations.

A layoff of seven employees without a treatment rate increase would save about $189,000 while revenues at the plant will exceed expenditures this budget year by about $700,000.

Last year's $1.8 million budget did not include provisions for capital improvements at the plant — proposed this fiscal year at $500,000 — or provide for about $200,000 of bond ordinance reserve requirements.

Capital improvements, which the federal government may demand in a followup to an August inspection of the plant, could total more than $600,000, according to Plant Superintendent Terrence McMillan, who said he has seen the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's (IEPA) preliminary report.

Significant improvements at the plant have repeatedly been put on hold as the city watched its budget.

The IEPA report is expected to arrive within the month. According to City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic, the report will back up his request for $500,000 "Recovery Set-Aside" to cover some of the major maintenance and construction problems at the plant.

In March, Superintendent McMillan cited bills based on actual residential usage as one alternative to the flat $9 per quarter increase. At that time, he reported the bill for an elderly resident living alone could drop as low as $1.89 per quarter from the current $13 per quarter.

A family of four, however, might face a $26.48 per quarter bill, depending upon their use. The Metro-East Sanitary District switched to the flow method this year and experienced a jump in revenue.

Madison must redistrict to four wards

By MICK STRANGE

The first of a series of meetings on the redistricting of the city of Madison from five wards to four wards was held last week.

The issue came about after the 1980 census as the Illinois state statutes call for cities between 3,000 and 15,000 population to have eight aldermen. Madison now has 10 aldermen.

The redistricting boundaries, according to law, should be set by the current aldermen and must be completed 30 days before the filing date of the next election, which would mean the issue must be settled by November for the April, 1983, election.

City Attorney Casper S. Nighossian reviewed the laws governing the redistricting for the benefit of the five senior aldermen who will make a recommendation to the council to accept or reject.

The Aldermanic Redistricting Committee consists of the senior alderman from each of the five wards — First Ward Alderman Don Reeves, chairman, Bill Gushoff of the Second Ward, Thomas Gordon of the Third Ward, (absent from the Tuesday meeting), Christ Costoff of the Fourth Ward and Donald Garrett of the Fifth Ward.

Reeves called Tuesday night's meeting to order and turned it over to the attorney, who covered the procedures in detail and gave each alderman a copy of the state statutes.

No current alderman will be out of office for at least two years. If, after a redistricting is finished and there are more than two aldermen in a ward, one of them will serve as an alderman-at-large for the remainder of the two-year term.

If, at the time of the election, there are two new aldermen elected from the same ward, one will be in office for two years and one for four. This will be decided by the drawing of lots.

There could be 10 aldermen for two years while various terms expire, it was explained.

The wards must be divided by the number of residents eligible to vote (registered voters) in the next election. State law requires the wards to be nearly equal in population and of as compact and contiguous territory, as practicable.

If the issue of the ward boundaries is not settled in time for the next election, according to the attorney, two things could happen — the issue may slide through or the city may face a mandamus action by the courts, ordering the council to redistrict. That could cause the court to redistrict the city.

A simple majority vote of the council is all that is needed to approve the new ward boundaries.

When asked by Gushoff how the council should decide on the boundaries, Nighossian simply replied, "I will only advise you as to my opinion of the law."

A question of gerrymandering was presented as a possibility in the redistricting.

Gerrymandering is a political term where by one political party or special interest group manages to redistrict of political boundaries so that there is a concentration of voting strength, while giving a minority party or group as few votes as possible.

Alderman Garrett noted that the new ward boundaries can be decided by a simple majority vote of the 10 aldermen, but only two are black. The Fifth Ward of Madison is nearly entirely made up of black citizens, he said.

Chairman Reeves opened the floor for questions from the other aldermen and citizens in attendance at the public meeting.

Why redistricting was not accomplished after the 1970 census, since the city apparently was in violation of the state statutes then, was asked. Alderman Costoff answered, "It was brought up then, when Steve Maeras was mayor, but we never did anything about it."

Another question raised was whether the city could reduce the number of aldermen to eight rather than eight. Nighossian gave the opinion that six was not possible under the law, but the number could be reduced to four, with one from each ward.

One citizen asked, "What can the public do to keep aldermen from dragging their feet?" Alderman Mike Siders responded, "I don't think the aldermen are going to drag their feet."

Chairman Reeves suggested that the aldermen study a city map and that the Aldermanic Redistricting Committee meet in four weeks, on Tuesday, July 28.

Between now and the next meeting, a map of the city showing where the voters are located is to be made available for the committee to study and discuss the proposed new boundaries at the next meeting.

SIUE to include 'business art'

The department of art and design at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is expanding its services to offer more coursework in the areas of commercial photography and graphic design, according to Don Davis, chairperson.

The department has acquired additional space in the Wagner Complex in Edwardsville which will be converted into laboratory classrooms, darkrooms and offices. "In the past, we were limited to the number of students we could accommodate because of space restrictions," Davis said.

The departmental chairman contemplates that the new facilities should be ready for use by the fall quarter and expects that student enrollment in photography and graphic design classes will double within the year.

Students enrolled in the courses include those who are planning careers with advertising agencies, newspapers, and periodicals, and with the graphic design departments of various businesses, industries and other commercial enterprises, Davis said.

The departmental chairman pointed out that some of the students who are upperclassmen have served or are currently serving internships at various businesses and industries in the St. Louis area.

Travelers view slides of Mt. Vesuvius

By BARBARA WILLIAMS

Mount Vesuvius near Naples, Italy, was the topic at the Travelers Abroad last meeting of the season. About 25 persons attended.

President Betty Townsend introduced two new members, Mrs. Dorothy Sheppard and Mrs. Helen Todoroff. She also commended members McComis, Walter Kline and Ernie Rouland for their hundreds of volunteer hours at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The group verified Dec. 6 as the date for its Christmas party and selected chicken for the entree.

Dr. Alice Purdes, program chairman, presented a narrated slide program on Mt. Vesuvius, Pompeii and Herculaneum. Mt. Vesuvius, the most famous volcano in the world, is the most active volcano on the mainland of Europe and is located about seven miles south of Naples, Italy. Because of its frequent eruptions, it is constantly studied by scientists.

Vesuvius was formed within the rim of Mount Somma when the top of the mountain collapsed during an eruption in 79 A.D. The top of the crater is from 50 to 400 feet across. During an eruption, Vesuvius spouts steam, cinders and small amounts of lava into the air. The 79 A.D. eruption is the one that buried the cities of Herculaneum and Pompeii.

The most recent eruption, which caused much damage to the excavated cities, was in 1978, but there have been almost 50 eruptions since the 79 A.D. one. Adjustments have been made and visitors are again being allowed to tour these areas, she said. Persons can tour near Vesuvius by road, railway, or by chairlift. The most famous scientific station, the Royal observatory, is located in an extremely dangerous position right on the slope of Vesuvius.

Among the good features which have developed from volcanoes are the invaluable archaeological discoveries, heat and power plants which are run by the steam of volcanoes in several areas of the world, and the development of pumice from the lava, which is used in grinding and polishing.

Well as in road construction. Lava beds are porous and water gathers in these underground reservoirs, thus providing drinking water for areas, and rich soil has been formed from the decayed volcanic products.

Pompeii is known as the "dead city" or the "unearthed city" and had a population of about 25,000 people at the time of its destruction in the year 79. From 19 to 23 feet of material buried nearly 20,000 of the citizens at that time. For hundreds of years, the city was missing, but between 1815 and 1922, some of the largest Pompeian ruins were discovered. Terracotta, fragments of vases and sculptures, as well as the plaster casts made of victims, have enabled the scientists to piece together the habits and customs of the people back then.

One of the buildings, the Temple of Apollo, was unearthed and it had a portico of 48 columns. An altar and a sun dial also were there. The innermost part of the temple, divided into "cells," is where the images of the divinity were kept. Bronze statues of Diana and Apollo were both discovered. The Apollo was the god of sun, war, music and prophecy.

The "Building of Eumachia" also was found and from the inscription, visitors know the priestess "Eumachia" bore the cost of its construction. It was the seat of the Corporation of the "Fullones," the cloth washers, laundresses and dyers.

Another building uncovered was the Great Theatre, which seats 5,000.

According to the Greek techniques of architecture, this was built between 200 and 150 B.C. Included in the Great Theatre was a meeting place for the spectators, which was converted into gladiators' barracks during Nero's time. During the 79 eruptions, it was an evacuation center, but the deadly ash got there before the boats arrived to rescue them.

More than 60 skeletons were found here, many of them children with their dogs. Other slides shown by the speaker pictured the "Little Theatre," which seated about 1,000, the Basilica, which was the most important public building in the city, and the public baths—one for women and one for men—dating back to 80 B.C. An amphitheatre, constructed in 80 B.C. and made in an elliptical shape to hold 12,000 spectators, also has been found.

For the purposes of excavation, the town is divided into nine regions, each including several blocks. Therefore, every building in Pompeii is known by its region number, its block number and the number of the room where the main entrance is.

According to Dr. Purdes, many paintings still are being discovered and a number of areas still are "off limits" to the tourist. Herculaneum was on the opposite side of Vesuvius from Pompeii and closer to the crater. While Pompeii was buried under about 12 feet of volcanic matter, Herculaneum's parts of buildings still stood. This was not so, said Dr. Purdes, in Herculaneum.

Tons of mud, from 60 to 70 feet deep, that hardened rapidly to stone, covered Herculaneum. This has made excavation difficult, but it kept the city from being looted and vandalized. The humid ground conditions enabled wooden furniture and houses, as well as cloth and food, to be preserved.

The architecture of Herculaneum was a Roman type. The houses were enclosed by high windowless walls, like small fortresses, which enabled the inhabitants to enjoy complete privacy. The early-style houses were a ring of rooms built around a central covered court or atrium with no interior gardens. The later houses emphasized gardens.

Paintings, executed in fresco or tempera, as well as mosaic decorations, were important in these two cities. Many bronze statues also have been found in the ruins.

Dr. Purdes said there still is much unexcavated area beneath the tons of hardened lava and the scientists are looking for temples, basilicas and the Senate House.

Travelers who were there in March of this year said they did not see many of the items shown by Dr. Purdes in the slides. This may be a result of the 1978 eruption, a year after the slides were taken by the speaker.

Brief vacation plans were discussed by a number of those present at the meeting. Dr. Purdes and Miss Townsend will be visiting the People's Republic of China this summer, while the Misses Hatcher are traveling to Ireland. The Roulands were in England in March and the two new members were in Italy, also in March. Others have been or are going to the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tenn.

Mrs. Ann Turner reported that she will be making her annual trip in the fall to Germany to see members of her family.

The next meeting, in September, will feature Al Schaefer, a Venice teacher, as the speaker. He has led a number of tours to Europe for a church-related group.

Delayed state aid payment to schools

Governor James R. Thompson signed legislation last week that will alter the June school aid payment to assist the state in dealing with problems stemming from the current economic downturn.

"This bill will allow the cash flow position of the state to remain on an even Keel—it will allow us to flatten out those large dips in the state budget balance that occur with the double school payment in June," Thompson said.

Keel let me once again emphasize that school districts will not be hurt by this bill. Any losses that incur by splitting the double school payment over June and July will be made up through $1.7 million in interest that the state will earn and return to school districts.

House Bill 497, sponsored by Rep. Gene Hoffman (Elmhurst) and Sen. John Hailand (Bloomington) became effective yesterday.

Under current law, the state makes two $126.4 million payments during the month of June and none in July. House Bill 497 spreads the payments over the months of June and July, so that school districts receive $126.4 million each month. The state would return to a double June payment in 1984.

In addition, the state agrees to return to the schools all interest it earns from holding the money for an extra month. Based on the 16.5 percent prime rate as of May 15, that interest would total $1.7 million. That is more than the school districts could earn by investing the money themselves, the governor said.

Thompson also said a letter is being sent to school superintendents across the state explaining the need for the bill and how their schools will not lose any money.

Bell granted 7.2 percent increase

The Illinois Commerce Commission has granted Illinois Bell a 7.2 percent increase in rates. The decision, which follows 11 months of hearings, provides the company about half of the 13.7 percent increase requested June 30, 1981.

The decision will increase Illinois Bell revenues by $27.7 million annually.

The Commission's action only partially recognizes our need for increased rates," said William L. Weiss, Illinois Bell president.

Primarily, it reflects their understanding of our need to modernize facilities more rapidly to meet customer service requirements.

"Unfortunately," he said, "the increase is inadequate because it doesn't begin to recognize the impact of rising costs on our business. Coupled with the soft economy in Illinois, which hurts our company just as it does other businesses, today's action leaves us far short of needed revenues."

In last week's action, the commission disallowed all expenses Illinois Bell pays under its License Contract agreement with AT&T. "It's incredible that the commission failed to recognize the savings and technological benefits received from the license contract agreement," Weiss said. "In the last 40 years, no state commission in the nation has totally disallowed the license contract expense."

"These services would be extremely costly to duplicate on our own and would force us to incur substantially higher costs to provide these services locally."

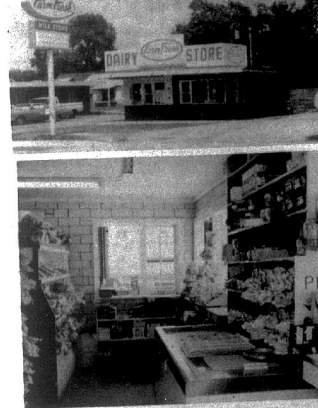

"In addition, much of the license contract payment comes right back to Illinois in the form of Jobs," Weiss said. "For example, the Bell Laboratories' Naperville facility — a major research location — is funded by this agreement."

"Obviously, we are looking at the options available to us to appeal the Commission's license contract decision."

"The new rate structure allows customers to save money because they are offered more choices than, over concerning the services they want and the options available to pay for them," Weiss said. "For example, people who perform some of their own installation or maintenance work can save money on their phone bills."

"Even with these increases, telephone service is still a bargain," Weiss said. "Since 1974, other goods and services measured by the Consumer Price Index have increased more than three times as much as the cost of telephone service," he noted.

ICC sets 6 rate hearings

The Illinois Commerce Commission has scheduled six public hearings concerning the proposed Illinois Power Company rate increases for gas and electricity.

The utility company has asked the commission to approve a 10.9 percent increase in electric rates and a 0.2 percent natural gas rate increase. This represents an average increase for the residential customer of more than $13 per month.

Public hearings frequently are held in the service territory of the company applying for a rate increase to allow the commission to better understand the opinions of the customers about the company's service and rates, a spokesman said.

These hearings, the commission's staff investigation and hundreds of signed petitions from this area all are to be considered during the decision-making process.

None of the six hearings are scheduled in Madison County. The locations and dates are: July 8 — Southern Illinois University, 411 East Broadway, East St. Louis; June 21 — Civic Center, Walnut and Main, Danville; June 24 — Civic Center, 108 East Water St., Urbana; June 30 — City Council Chambers, 215 North Greenwood, Springfield Valley; Public Library, 247 East North St., Decatur.

All of hearings are open to the public and begin at 6:30 p.m.

Deadline tomorrow for chorus signup

Belleville Area College will offer a non-auditioned community chorus during the summer semester.

Tomorrow, however, is the deadline for signing up for the chorus.

The chorus will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays for five weeks, beginning Monday, June 7. A final concert will be given Friday, July 9.

Music to be rehearsed and performed includes "Music by Handel," "Come Ye Sons of Art" by Purcell, "A Gospel Mass" by Robert Ray and three American madrigals by Kirke Mechem.

JENNIFER MARSALA of Madison has graduated from Belleville Area College with a degree in Nursing Education. She is the wife of Madison Police Officer Gary Marsala and the mother of two sons, Gary Jr. and Matthew. She has accepted a position with Belleville Memorial Hospital.

State Fair opens Aug. 5

Plans for the 1982 Illinois State Fair — Aug. 5 to 15 — are well under way. This year's theme "Where Illinois Gets Together" will be exemplified with an overall reduction in admission and the first-time use of Ticketron.

Ticketron, the nationwide computerized ticket-selling firm, is being retained to serve as a primary source for obtaining tickets to Grandstand events.

It will provide approximately 55 additional ticket-selling outlets across the state. All tickets are scheduled to go on sale starting Monday, June 14.

Recently Governor Thompson announced a new age admission policy. Persons 16 years of age and under and 60 years of age and older will be admitted free.

In addition, there will be free admission and free parking for everyone on the final Sunday of the fair.

Admission to the fair will be $1 for those 17 to 59 years of age until 5 p.m. when the gate price will drop to $1 for the rest of the day.

The eleven-day fair will feature a different theme for each day: Thursday, Aug. 5 — Illinois Day; Friday, Aug. 6 — County Fair Day; Saturday, Aug. 7 — Local Officials Day; Sunday, Aug. 8 — Veterans Day; Monday, Aug. 9 — Horse Racing Day; Tuesday, Aug. 10 — Agriculture Day; Wednesday, Aug. 11 — Governor's Day; Thursday, Aug. 12 — Democrat Day; Friday, Aug. 13 — Youth Day; Saturday, Aug. 14 — Labor Day; Sunday, Aug. 15 — Family Day.

Farm Fresh in Madison

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

C. L. "Bud" Clay and his wife, Holly (above), soon will be opening their third Farm Fresh Store in the Quad-City area, which will be located in the new David Connoille Alpine Village Shopping Center at Third Street and Madison Avenue in Madison. The new store will open in the latter part of June.

The Clays' first store, pictured at the top right, was located at 2801 N. Meade Road had only 200 square feet, pictured in the lower right.

The first store was re-built and enlarged to 3,360 square feet in 1970 and then a new addition was constructed in 1980.

The Madison store will contain 6,000 square feet and will feature a complete grocery line.

The Clays' opened their second store in 1973 at 3715

Nameoki Road, at Crossroads Shopping Center.

"I feel like I am going home. I was born on Sixth Street in Madison," Clay said in commenting on the new store.

"Bud" as he is known by most Madison residents and many others in the Quad-City area worked at the Madison Laclede Steel plant, retiring with 27 years of service.

"I thought I was really too young to quit working, so Holly and I started just looking around for a small business to run and keep occupied. I had been looking at several types of businesses and wrote Farm Fresh."

"Well, they answered, and in about two years, I was running the small milk store, where people would drive up in their car and you would hand the milk out through the window."

"I remember Joe Nowicki, who ran Grand Cleaners, helped us get started and loaned us the land for the first store." It was small, he remembered. "One person hardly had room to turn around."

"All we could handle then was milk and bread and some candy," Clay said.

Bud and Holly met in Madison at the home of her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gabe, formerly of 1633 Third St., Madison.

The Clays have two grown children. Mrs. Lynn Scaturro, who works at Madison County Federal Savings & Loan, and are the proud grandparents of Crystal, age 7.

Their son, Larry, is in the convenience stores and now has a used car business next to the Farm Fresh store on Nameoki Road.

The Clays also have in their "family" two cats and two dogs. Their hobby is training dogs.

One dog is an 85-pound Rottweiler named Krista and the other dog is an 85-pound Yellow Labrador named Muffin.

Farm Fresh was started in 1952 by the Chester Dairy Co. of Chester, Ill., founded by the late Herman Kraft and Ernest Decker.

It originally was home delivery in milk wagons pulled by horses.

The Madison Farm Fresh will be the 33rd store for the company, which has expanded into both Illinois and Missouri.

The company sells to several hospitals, restaurants and hotels, in addition to the stores.

According to Clay, the Chester Dairy Co. has always stressed and been dedicated to "quality" dairy products since its beginning.

DCCA says Illinois is busy

During the warm spring and summer months, visitors and residents of Illinois are greeted by more than 1,000 special events throughout the state, according to the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA).

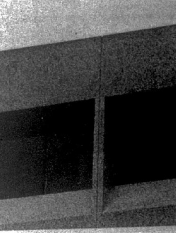

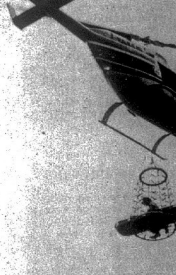

The latest Illinois Calendar of Events features the state's most popular activities and events through September this year.

Available to the public at no charge, the Calendar is published by DCCA's Department of Tourism, headed by Lynda Simon.

The Calendar is one of the many vehicles produced by DCCA to stimulate tourism in our state. "It is part of our Illinois, Inc., promotional effort to encourage out-of-state people to visit Illinois, as well as make Illinoisans aware of the many exciting events that take place in the state," explained Peter B. Fox, Director of DCCA.

To obtain a free copy of the Illinois Calendar, Events, and other helpful brochures, write to: Illinois Travel Information Center, 208 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60601, Illinois Office of Tourism, 222 South College Street, Springfield, IL 62766, or Illinois Office of Tourism, 229 West Main Street, Marion, IL 62959.

She agreed to sign a complaint against her assailant.

Additional GC Council action—at a glance

Additional Granite City Council discussions and actions last week included the following:

...Aldermen discussed a new policy of SCA Services, Inc., effective yesterday, which requires residents to present a coupon verifying city residence before using the trash dump on Chain of Rocks Road. Alderman Paul Ray Bowler said the action was taken as the result of abuse by residents using the SCA-owned landfill to deposit refuse for residents living outside the area. Coupons may be obtained from the SCA Office, 2216 Madison Ave., from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

...The council approved the purchase of a $2,250 small sewer-cleaning machine to open residential sewer lines. The city had been using a similar machine on loan for the same purpose. Alderman Michael Morden asked aldermen to consider charging residents for the service, which he said occupies the services of Street Department employees. Alderman Michael Morden, chairman of the street and alley committee, who recommended the purchase of the demonstration model, said he thought the various services offered residents balance one another.

...With the impending retirement of a Street Department employee, the council approved the hiring on a department employee who had been on layoff status. Alderman Carl Kittel questioned the replacement of the position when the number in staff could now be reduced through attrition. The motion to bring back the employee was passed by a voice vote.

...Alderman accepted the $33,000 bid of Kienstra, Inc., for 700 cubic yards of concrete as recommended by the Engineering Department.

...Illinois Power was granted excavation permits to replace two gas mains on the 2800 block of Harding Ave., on June 28 to July 7.

...The Little Rascals Boys' Football Club was granted permission to hold its annual Tag Days on Aug. 27-28.

...A petition to locate a trailer at 2073 Circle Drive was granted by the council.

Fewer highway deaths reported

The year 1981 marked the fourth consecutive year that fewer people were killed and injured on Illinois highways with the state leading the nation in reducing highway fatalities and injuries.

Governor James R. Thompson said last week the final compilation of statistics by the Illinois Department of Transportation showed Illinois last year led the nation in reducing highway fatalities and injuries compared with similar states.

"In fact," the Governor said, "Illinois and New Mexico are the only two states in the nation that have had a reduction in fatalities four years in a row."

"We have made a concentrated effort during the past five years to make our highways and bridges safer for the motoring public through road repair, targeted safety projects and improved law enforcement," Thompson said.

"Since I took office in 1977, more than 2,800 miles of highway have been repaired or constructed and 1,850 state and local bridges replaced or rehabilitated. In addition, approximately 1,400 highway safety projects totaling $40.7 million have been approved."

Secretary of State Jim Edgar said the reduction in traffic fatalities and injuries in Illinois recently also can be attributed, in part, to the state's new drunk driving law as noted by a drop in fatalities so far this year.

Aiding the reduction in traffic fatalities has been an administrative crackdown by the Secretary of State's Office on chronic drunk drivers and an increase in the minimum drinking age to 21.

"Since the drinking age was raised to 21 several years ago, 19 and 20 year olds have been involved in 12 percent fewer accidents," Edgar said. "We can do even more if at every opportunity we make drivers and pedestrians aware of the need for driving responsibly and obeying the law."

The 1981 death rate on Illinois highways also was approximately 15 percent lower than the 1981 estimated national death rate.

The downward trend in traffic fatalities has continued into 1982, with a 19 percent decrease for the first four months of 1982 as compared to the same period of 1981.

Some of the Department of Transportation highway safety projects included: concentrated police enforcement of 55 m.p.h. speed limit; emergency medical services training; new highway signs for local streets; increased use of safety belts and child restraint seats; traffic training for police officers; and motorcycle beginner rider training.

"To further add to highway safety efforts," Governor Thompson stated, "during the past four years the state has purchased 107 ambulances at a cost of nearly $1.5 million and 20 rescue vehicles at a cost of $356,600 for various communities throughout the state."

"In the same four-year period, the Department of Transportation has installed safety crash cushions at 22 new locations in addition to nearly 230 miles of guardrail."

"Despite severe federal transportation funding cuts and declining state Road Fund revenues, substantial improvements have been made to our highway system providing motorists with safe highways and bridges," Thompson said.

Final figures depicting the total number of accidents, fatal accidents, personal injury accidents and property damage accidents are shown below.

1981 1980 Percent Change

St. Elizabeth's Medical Center announced that Paul E. Rackiewicz, vice-president has achieved fellowship in the American Board of Hospital Administrators.

ACHA is a professional society. The goal is professional growth and development through continuing education and beyond vocational activities.

Fellowships are conferred on those who demonstrate a high level of service in the field of hospital administration. The affiliate chooses a project, either a thesis or four case studies.

The case studies are to be actual problem-solving situations within his administrative control. The affiliate's project and credentials are reviewed by the Board of Governors, and if leadership, initiative and professional growth and development range above and beyond vocational expectations, a Fellowship is granted.

Rackiewicz received his bachelor of science in Education at State University in 1973. He first became affiliated with St. Elizabeth Medical Center in 1973 as administrative resident and was named vice-president in 1975.

Rackiewicz holds memberships in various professional and civic organizations including St. Louis Metropolitan Hospital Association, Madison County Council on Drug and Alcohol Dependency, United Way, Citizens Advisory Council for Off-Campus Education for Granite City Community District 8, Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency General Assembly and the Granite City Rotary Club.

Rackiewicz resides in Florissant, Missouri, with his wife, Dottie, and three children.

It also was announced that Steven L. Hunter, vice-president of corporate planning and marketing at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, was granted membership in ACHA.

To attain membership status, the affiliate must serve as a Nominee in ACHA for three years, pass the "Board of Governors" written and oral examination on Health Service Administration and have his credentials reviewed by the Board.

Hunter received his bachelor of science in medical technology from Eastern Illinois University in 1975, where he graduated Summa Cum Laude.

$25,000 bond on aggravated battery

John C. Hand, 22, of 1312 Meridian Ave., was being held by Granite City police pending the posting of a $25,000 bond on a charge of aggravated battery.

Hand allegedly struck Dean Perkins, 177 Belmar Lane, in the back of the head with a baseball bat at 11:15 p.m. Friday.

According to a statement given to police, Perkins was walking home when confronted by Hand, who said he did not want to see him around his girlfriend anymore.

Perkins told police he did not want any trouble and turned to leave when he allegedly was struck on the head by Hand.

Hand left the scene, but was taken into custody about one half hour later by Madison Police Officer William Weidner, who also found the bat that was allegedly used.

The victim was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Flag waving Memorial winner

The first winner of the "All American Flag Waving Contest" was selected Memorial Day at the site of the Wilson Park Memorial F4F Jet fighter aircraft.

The name of the winner, Rose Mary Breyer, 2658 E. 27th St., was drawn by Frances Downes, an employee of contest sponsor Feder Huber Furniture, Niedringhaus at Delmar avenues.

According to Steve Konkovich, contest organizer, Mrs. Breyer, "a very patriotic lady, flies the flag frequently," and was flying her flag on Memorial Day.

She received a $100 winning bond from Feder Huber.

The drawing followed a short ceremony observing Memorial Day led by Air Force Sgt. Tom Slater, St. Elizabeth's Petty Officer Ron Morelin and a representative from the Marine Corps.

Morelin gave a speech on the significance of Memorial Day. Over 120 area men and women have died in wars.

A taped speech by Walter Brewer, a World War II overseas combat Marine, was played. Brewer is a foreman with the Granite City Park District.

Konkovich acted as master-of-ceremonies during the brief ceremony, which was recorded by South-Western Cable TV.

This is the fifth year for the flag-waving contest. Under new contest rules, any area resident who wished to participate could enter the contest by registering at the Feder Huber store.

Don Zukerman, Feder Huber general manager, helped to coordinate the public spirited event.

According to Konkovich, the flag-waving contest has captured state and national attention and was commended in a letter from the White House.

This Memorial Day the city displayed 80 new flags purchased in the result of a fund-raising effort by Alderman Stephen Saltich and through donations from the Granite City Fire Department and others.

POSSESSION CHARGED. Robert S. Talbert, 17, of 2124 Grand Ave., was charged with disorderly conduct and possession of cannabis after being arrested at 8:20 p.m. Friday at 1526 Clark Ave. He was released 7:30 a.m. Saturday on a notice to appear.

Anderson adds outpatient care

Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville has introduced several changes to make its outpatient care increasingly responsive to the needs of the public, announced Administrator Daniel Hickey.

The changes, which went into effect Monday, May 24, include three new surgical outpatient rooms, four new "recovery chairs," expanded patient education, a greater continuity of nursing care, and provision of increasingly expanded family-patient time together.

Surgical Supervisor Judy R. C. N.O.R. reports that in the initial two days of expanded service, patient response has been extremely positive. "After new services provided greater mental and physical comfort for the patient, so that the trauma of a hospital visit is minimized," explains Fritsch.

The three semi-private rooms now reserved for outpatients separate these patients from more serious surgical cases and assure privacy before and after surgery.

The outpatient rooms also allow families to remain with the patient until just before surgery and to rejoin the patient as soon as one hour after the surgery. This greatly reduces the patient's and the family's anxiety, says many people, as this is the single most important change, reports Fritsch.

Betty T. Osek, professor of Spanish in the SIUE department of foreign languages and literature, has been selected by the State Teacher Award at the June 1 commencement. Also honored will be Lyman Holden, associate professor of mathematics, Senior Teaching Excellence Award, and Shirley Carlson, assistant professor of historical studies, Junior Teaching Excellence Award.

Local bus garage is 'dead issue'

By PAIGET JOHN
The push by Madison County Transit District members to persuade the Bi-State Development Agency to build its new $22 million bus garage in their county has come to an end.

There is now general, although reluctant, acceptance on the board that Bi-State will close its Belleville garage June 14 and consolidate Metro-East bus services and repairs in its East St. Louis garage. The East St. Louis building will be closed sometime in the future when the new facility is built in St. Clair County.

A strong proponent for a Madison County bus garage, Transit District Chairman Bill Haine said he is going along with the decision to place the new garage elsewhere.

Bi-State, he said, has little choice because of the financial dictates of the federal and state agencies which provide all but $250,000 to build the $22 million garage.

"They voted any capital money for more than one garage," Haine said. "If they are only going to be allowed to build one garage, it's going to be in St. Clair County."

"On his to agree with them (Bi-State)," he said. "We did our best to lobby for a garage in Madison County, but the federal people are the ones who call it's either one garage or nothing. It's either $22 million, or nothing."

In an attempt to have Bi-State put more of itself than buses in Madison County, Haine had earlier proposed two smaller garages be built, one in Madison County and one in Belleville. That was no longer feasible, he said.

The Illinois Department of Transportation has asked Neddinghaus Avenue and Cleveland Boulevard at 3:05 a.m. Friday, alleged seeing two men near the front of a vehicle in the Action Auto Sales lot.

The men who got into a tow truck parked nearby, were questioned, but allowed to leave.

The officer then learned one of the men, Lawrence W. Reckert, 19, of Ferguson, Mo., had been warned previously to stay away from the property and the tow truck was hauled by a squad car at 11th Street and Madison Avenue, and the occupants were taken to headquarters.

The driver, also a Missouri resident, was released with a warning and Reckert was charged with criminal trespass to property. He was released at 4:05 a.m. Friday on payment of a $52 cash bond.

LOOKING FOR MATCHES? Jeffery L. Hurst, 19, of 2387 E. 23rd St., was released on a charge of criminal trespass to property, but he realizes the ideal location for the building is in the westbound lane and then move to eastbound lanes.

The Bi-State Development Agency has decided to avoid the $22 million in the city's budget to partly finance depreciation of bus equipment.

Although reducing pay raises and benefits for most state employees, the Illinois Senate on Thursday voted pay hikes of $15,000 to $17,000 over the next two years for judges. Circuit judges would rise from $50,000 to $65,000 and associate judges from $44,500 to $60,000.

Steelworkers of Laclede Steel have voted 770 to 45 to grant pay concessions totaling $2.1 million in the hope of enabling the firm to remain in business.

State Treasurer Jerome Costantino is in fair condition this week with pneumonia. State Sen. James D. Waldman, a nominee to succeed Costantino as the latter seeks to become secretary of state, is recuperating from heart surgery and an unspecified health problem.

Illinois as of July 1 will waive the written examination for the 45 percent of all motorists who have a safe driving history when they apply for renewal of driver licenses.

man Michael Modrusic questioned $1,000 budgeted for convention expenses, which have been eliminated in other departments. Several other aldermen, however, said an exception should be made in view of the low yearly salary schedule set by the potential grant information Koenig could bring back. "Of all the conventions, this is probably one of the most valuable," Bowler said.

Decatur warned that before potentially eliminating Koenig's expenses for the national convention, the council should consider the federal government tentative plans to pour money into a national civil defense program.

Milton questioned the city's budgeting for the salaries of crossing guards at 16 school crossings. Chief of Police Ronald Veizer said past efforts have been unsuccessful in asking the school district to share in the crossing guard salaries totaling $45,650.

Included in the police salaries is $38,000 reimbursable to the city from private companies which have city policemen work for the companies as a second job. The council is studying, however, to raise the reimbursement rate charged companies using city police to include a share of the officer's fringe benefit expenses.

The six new police vehicles, expected to be delivered next month, represent a $25,000 expense in the city's budget for one year's payment on the total cost of the cars.

Alderman Casmer Skubish questioned the jump in the Fire Department salaries and fringe benefits, which are expected to rise from $973,900 to $1,271,134 this year. Miklowicz said that last year, the budget line item probably listed only the portion of the salaries not coming from federal revenue sharing expenses.

The Air Pollution Division budget lists only two employees expenses, $11,489 representing one-third of the city engineer's salary and $17,114 for one air pollution inspection. The total salary budget with fringes is $36,743.

The payroll expenses did not include provisions for a secretary and Alderman Skubish, chairman of the Air Pollution committee, questioned Mayor Schuler on how long he intends to keep the department's secretary on layoff status, since her layoff was conducted through the mayor's instructions.

Schuler said the secretary's layoff is "temporary," ending one of the city layoffs temporary, but said that until the city finds additional income, "I don't see how we can bring anybody back."

"I think we would call it a people back, but we don't have the amount to sustain them," Bowler said.

In the Civil Defense budget, Alderman since other department head salaries are typically higher.

The street department budget represents a $17,760 increase over the comptroller's allocation for the department, but also represents a compromise from the original budget requests of the superintendent of streets.

Under the Sanitation Department budget, the city's contract with SCA Milan East trash collection service increased by five percent, from $460,000 to $486,925.

Miklowicz said the $62,000 allocated for the sewer lift stations is just an estimate that only will cover a few major repairs.

HEALTH AND WELFARE UNIT
Budgeted for $53,649, the health and welfare budget includes the Human Services Department. The unit is budgeted for only two employees, and $1,800 is being budgeted for the repair of facilities the comptroller calls dilapidated.

OMNIBUS UNIT
The Omnibus Unit provides for the payment of $669,000 in budget anticipation warrants; the $155,000 retirement of the city's past Storm Water Bond issue; the library levy of $400,000; "drastic" jump in legal judgments and losses of $36,000 to $175,000, and pension contributions levies of $600,000 to $400,000 below recommended levels.

ENTERPRISE UNIT
Within the Proprietary Funds category, the Ambulance Department and $2,550,000 for the Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman of the ambulance committee, said that even if other municipalities now using the city's ambulance services ask their contracts with the city be terminated, the city still will keep all three ambulances.

According to Whitmer, the state recommends an ambulance per 10,000 population. Whitmer said this summer, with the vacation schedule and current conditions, the city's ambulance unit normally staffed by two emergency medical technicians may only have one EMT.

After a short initial discussion, the sewer plant budget was put on hold when Alderman Bowler asked Plant Supervisor Terence McMillan to send to each alderman the list of financial assumptions on which the sewage treatment plant budget is based.

Mayor Paul Schuler said that it appears in his "culprit" in the plant's budget is not the payroll expenses, which comprise $32,310 of the $2.5 million budget.

proposal now under consideration by the council has been a major challenge since he accepted the job.

He said he took a new approach to the budget this year — letting each department head prepare his own budget. "I told them what the bottom line figure would be and let them prepare their budgets from that," he noted. He said, "I froze this fiscal year, 'I felt it would be rather easy for each department head to prepare his own budget."

However, many of them, unfamiliar with budget preparation, "spent a lot of time in my office," Miklowicz said.

The City Computer, Miklowicz said that the city's computer was used for payroll only during all of 1981 and continues to be limited to that function. However, he told the Optimists, when he is able to close the financial books on the 1981-82 fiscal year, which ended April 30, "I will be able to enter the beginning figures in the computer" and start using it for other city functions.

Miklowicz was asked if he feels he has security in the job of comptroller and he told the Optimists that he received a verbal promise from the finance committee when he was hired that, "As long as they are able to pay me, I am safe. When they are no longer able to pay me, I am gone," he noted.

On a personal note, Miklowicz said his job as a certified public accountant occasionally makes it necessary to work with cold hard figures, rather than with personalities, but he assured the group, "There is not ice water in my veins, despite what some newspaper reporters believe."

A Local Perspective

Johncock wins 2nd Indy

EDITOR'S NOTE: Granite City Press-Record editor, Gary Schneider, a noted enthusiast and announcer of auto racing for many years, attended the world-famous Indianapolis 500 auto race Sunday. The following is his account of the event.

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

The 1982 Indianapolis 500 auto race Sunday had it all. Excitement, close racing action, controversy — you name it.

Golden Johncock, 45, of Coldwater, Mich., won an undisputed victory in the closest finish in the 66 year history of Indianapolis racing. He finished only seven-hundredths of a second ahead of the beautiful blue and white Penske PC-10 seven of pole-sitter Rick Mears, 30, of Bakersfield, Calif.

Nearly 400,000 persons remained on their feet in the gigantic Indy speedway for the final 12 laps as Mears slowly closed the gap between himself and Johncock's blue and red Wildcat-Coworth, nearly pulling ahead in the final lap, but the veteran Johncock was able to "slam the door" by pulling in front of Mears each time Mears attempted a pass. Mears' final attempt to overtake Johncock occurred in the last straightaway, resulting in a drag race to the checkered flag at a speed in excess of 200 mph.

The day was marred by an accident occurring just as the green flag fell to start the race. Later, race officials ruled that the green flag had not come out, so the race had never officially started. Those who were watching the starting tower saw the green flag fall, followed by mass confusion in the field of 33 race cars, resulting in a yellow flag within one second of when the green flag fell. Some drivers in the back of the pack said they watched the traffic lights in the first turn go briefly green and then suddenly back to yellow and though there may have been a false start, until they were rounded the turn and saw the smoke of the accident.

Inexperience by Mears' teammate, 28-year-old Kevin Cogan, was blamed by two veteran drivers involved in the incident, as the cause of the crash. Cogan said he did not know what caused his car to swerve suddenly to the right, hitting J. J. Foyt's car and spinning across the track, causing a total of four cars to be scratched from the field.

Cogan unfortunately, was in the middle of the front row when the green light came out, so he could not have been in a worse spot to spin, with cars on either side of him and 30 cars bearing down on him from behind.

When Cogan's auto, a twin to Mears' car, bumped Foyt's car on the right, Foyt was able to maintain control, but Cogan's car spun to the left directly in front of the auto of Mario Andretti. Andretti had no choice but to "T-bone" into the left side of Cogan's car, putting both of them out of the race.

THE SIXTY-SIXTH - MAY 30, 1982

Behind them, Roger Mears, brother of the pole-sitter, slowed and turned toward the infield to avoid the accident in front of him and contended that Dale Whittington just "drove over" him, taking both rookies' cars out of the race.

Foyt, driving in his record 25th consecutive Indy 500, was able to replace a bent wheel support to the left front tire and return to lead the first 50 laps of the race, when it restarted. Later, Foyt retired with a gearbox malfunction that prohibited him from shifting out of third gear.

Both Foyt and Andretti confronted Cogan with angry words. Cogan, who was driving in his second Indy race, said he did not believe driver error was at fault. He said he wanted to see the films of the accident to see if his car had been bumped by another or if mechanical difficulties caused his car to swerve into Foyt's.

Other veteran drivers who observed the accident said they believe the pace set by Mears coming out of the final turn before the green flag was "way too slow." In Johnny Rutherford's words, and Cogan had his car in too low a gear because of it. When the green flag fell, Cogan jumped on the accelerator and the low gear caused the rear wheels to spin, putting the car out of control, the other drivers believe.

After nearly an hour's delay, the race was resumed. The pack of 29 remaining cars was not in good order when the green flag finally fell, but the start was trouble free and the Indy 500 was finally under way.

Foyt pulled immediately into a big lead and held on for the first 50 laps. During that time, Mexican Josele Garza became the first victim of mechanical problems, retiring in the first lap with an oil leak.

Tony Bettenhausen went out second as a steering mechanism broke, pulling his car into the outside wall on lap 38. He was not injured.

Danny Ongais, who has been plagued by serious accidents in recent years, lost control of his car in the second turn early in the race and rookie Chet Phillip was struck by Jerry Sneva as both pit Foyt far behind, even before the gearbox of his racer malfunctioned and eliminated him from the race.

Foyt was removed from serious contention with a fueling valve malfunctioned in his pit, spilling methanol on his driver's suit, instead of in his fuel tank. Four trips to the pits put Foyt far behind, even before the gearbox of his racer malfunctioned and eliminated him from the race.

From then on, it was a see-saw battle between Johncock, Mears and Jerry Sneva for the lead. A minor incident in the pits may have been all that it took to keep Mears out of Victory Lane. Late in the race, Mears entered the pits at high speed and misjudged the speed of the slower car of rookies Herm Johnson in front of him. It resulted in Mears slamming on his brakes and just bumping the slower car. The incident resulted in a loss of several seconds, more than the difference in time between the winner and Mears' second place finish.

Johncock, on the other hand, encountered a slower car in the pits during a fast pit stop in the waning moments of the race, but simply passed it on the left, a daring maneuver in the crowded and narrow pit area, but one executed smoothly by the veteran Johncock, saving him precious seconds.

Johncock's auto did not handle well for the final dozen laps, he said in Victory Lane. He said the car was "pushing," forcing him to go low into the corners and come out very close to the walls, which allowed Mears to close a 12 second gap in just 12 laps and set up a 12 second gap to the finish line. Mears average 198 mph in those final laps while Johncock could manage an average of only 193 mph.

Crossing the line a distance behind Johncock and Mears was Pancho Carter, followed by Sneva and three-time winner Al Unser.

Indy racers train here

The Granite City area is no stranger to several of the drivers who toured the Indianapolis 500 track Sunday. Among the starting 33 drivers who have experienced racing at Tri-City Speedway north of Granite City are Tom Bigelow, Gary Bettenhausen, Johnny Parsons Jr., George Snider and Pancho Carter.

Danny Ongais also has raced locally before he converted to circle track racing. Ongais drove a funny car titled "The Hawaiian" at numerous drag races and Gateway Nationals races at St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison.

Gateway Nationals begin Thursday

The 1982 American Hot Rod Association's Gateway Nationals at St. Louis International Raceway will kick off this year with a new four day format on June 3, 4, 5, and 6.

This event has shown a dramatic increase in spectators in the past two years. This has made necessary the expansion of this event from the original three to four days.

Highlighting this racing spectacular will be the 2,500 horsepower war in the professional eliminator of AA Fuel Funny Car. These fiberglass bodied 1,800 lb. engines utilize 500 cubic inch engines with supercharging, fuel injection, and an exotic fuel mixture of nitro methane to propel them down the quarter mile track at speeds approaching 250 miles per hour in approximately six seconds.

Many of the top superstars in the sport are found behind the wheels of these ill mannered beasts. Don "The Snake" Prudhomme, defending World Champion, will be on hand as car to car to beat with his new "Pepsi Challenger" Firebird.

Prudhomme will not find victory easily achieved with his arch rival Tom "The Mongoose" McEwen also pre-entertained for this years AAA Gateway Nationals with his potent "Coors" covecette.

Other prominent funny car "shoots" pre-entertained at press time include, John "Brute" Force, and Craig Eppery in the H.B. Gold "Flopper," who will both be defending the honor of Southern California racers at St. Louis. Tom "Showtime" Hoover of Minneapolis, MN.; Tom Howard of Iowa; Dale Tudor of Tulsa, Oklahoma; are also among the early entries assuring that this years Gateway Nationals will be the quickest and fastest yet.

Advance discount tickets are available at area Burger Kings.

Fourth tournaments begin June 30

The Granite City Park District will hold its Annual Fourth of July Men's and Women's Slow Pitch Tournaments starting Wednesday, June 30 through Sunday, July 4.

The mens games will be played at Worthen and West Granite Parks. Women's games will be played at Wilson Park.

LINING UP FOR THE CRASH. Indianapolis 500 starters charge toward the green flag at the opening of Sunday's race, but the initial charge was to prove disastrous as the car in the center of the front row, driven by Kevin Cogan, lost control and swerved to the right into the car of A.J. Foyt, then spun to the left, taking out the auto of Mario Andretti, Dale Whittington and Roger Mears. The accident eliminated all by Foyt's auto from the race, even before it officially started, and resulted in nearly an hour's delay in getting the race underway.

CHARGE TO THE FINISH. The pit crew of Howdy Holmes watches in the final laps of Sunday's Indy 500 as Gordon Johncock, leading, holds off the charge from Rick Mears, directly behind Johncock's car. A crowd of nearly 400,000 persons witnessed the exciting climax as Johncock won the race by only seven-hundredths of a second, the closest finish in the 66 year history of Indy.

Warrior tennis duo wins pair

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Granite City High School South's doubles team of John Menendez and Matt Sheridan left the Illinois High School Association's tennis championships here Saturday with an even 500 record — two wins and two losses, but unfortunately for the Warriors in the first and consolation round matches.

Last week, in post season play, both teamed to win the regional tennis doubles title at Granite City South. Things were a little different, however, in state competition.

In the first round, the Warrior team started on a positive note as they defeated Lebanon's Joe Christ and Kevin Salter in straight sets 6-1, 6-3.

Things became more difficult for the Warriors in the second round. In the second round, Menendez and Sheridan met near-rival Belleville West's team of Ted Meyer and Dan Boatman. The Maroon netted sliced up the Warriors, winning in straight sets

Granite South Warriors

6-3, 6-3.

Warrior coach Rich Harmon blamed the Warrior loss on South's inability to serve that afternoon without double faulting.

"We had some problems with double faulting. I don't know what the problems was. If we hadn't (faulted) we'd still be playing now," Harmon said jokingly Monday afternoon.

The loss moved the Warriors into consolation play. In South's first consolation round, the Warriors faced Latin-Chicago and emerged as three-set winners, winning 6-2, 6-7, 6-3.

In their final match, Menendez and Sheridan lost to Highland Park's Kevin Olson and Andy Goldman 6-3, 7-5.

After the match, Harmon said he was pleased with Menendez and Sheridan's performance saying "they played pretty fair."

"We were in the ballpark in both of those games we lost," Harmon said. "These guys have at least another year of tennis. We'll get them next year. Things are looking up for the future."

Next year Menendez will be a senior, while Sheridan will be a junior.

Green picks up Tri-City victory

Tim Green of Carmical, Calif., picked up his second consecutive feature win Saturday night at Tri-City Speedway while Fred Strobe won the late model stock competition. Each picked up $1,000 for their first place finishes. Green, who started from the front row, lost time in taking the lead at the green flag.

Scott Richard of Lincoln, Ill., worked his way up to second place from his fifth place start, passing Tommy Estes from Kansas City, Mo., on lap seven only to lose his brakes going hard into turn three. Richard hit the guardrail and flipped his No. 96 sprinter three times before landing upside down outside the track.

Jerry Walkingstick from Tulsa, Okla., flipped his No. 61 sprinter on the fifth lap but got restarted and finished the race.

Todd Bishop made a bid for the lead on the closing laps on green but only lost out by a few car lengths to finish second.

Fred Strobe from Peoria, Ill., took the late model stock car feature event after taking over the lead when Bo Smith of St. Charles, Mo., went out when he lost oil pressure on lap 21 while having a big lead. Kevin Gundaker also was sidelined with engine problems.

Gundaker, from St. Louis, Mo., could only get a second place in the heat race behind Bo Smith. Ray Guss Jr. and

C. C. Corbin got together in turn two of their heat race with Guss flipping his No. 12 late model but walked away unhurt. Guss is from Milliam, Ill. Corbin is from East Alton, Ill.

Next Saturday night will be the Donaldson Restaurant night sponsored late model stock cars and sprint cars. Gates open at 6 p.m.

Wednesday night, June 16, will be Outlaw Sprint Cars and M.A.R.A. Midgits, with $2,000 going to the sprint car feature winner.

1st Heat — Tommy Estates, Tom Corbin, Tim Baker, Randy Strandridge.

3rd Heat — Todd Bishop, Kevin Olson, Mike Krammer.

4th Heat — Andy Clayborn, Vic Bentlage, C. C. Corbin, Mike Cooksey.

Comanches out distance Steelers, season ends

CAHOKIA — For the baseball Steelers, co-champions of the Gateway East Conference, the season ended abruptly last Thursday in the first round of regional baseball action as North lost to Cahokia 8-5.

North's coach, Bob Stegemeier, was noticeably distressed by the loss.

"What can I say? Apparently they're a better ball club than we are. We've played them three times this year and each time they've won. I guess I'm safe in saying that," Stegemeier said.

"Their pitcher, (Rick) Tenholder, he's pretty good."

The two previous times this year both teams have met the Cahokia coaching staff has opted to pitch Tenholder against the Steelers. Thursday was no exception.

For Cahokia, Tenholder seemingly has the Steeler number, as he managed to shutout the Steelers in the first four innings.

With what seemed to be a safe Comanche lead after four innings, Cahokia coach Chet Barker replaced Tenholder, hoping to save some of him for the matchup with Collinsville in the semi-final round. That was the opportunity the Steelers had hoped for.

In the fifth inning, Cahokia increased its lead to six, but North's batters made hay with Comanche relief pitching, scoring three runs before Tenholder was summoned to retake the mound in an effort to silence the Steeler bats.

With Tenholder's return, the Comanche task was complete. The two succeeding Steeler batters went down in order to strikes. North's Rod Hessler, who doubled, and designated hitter Kevin Hayes were left stranded.

Granite North Steelers

In the sixth inning both team's defenses checked the other's offense. The Steelers managed a double play of sorts, as Steve Trittschuh tossed out Comanche Ed Luedman, followed by a trapped Larry Thompson who tried to advance to third while Trittschuh made this throw to get Luedman.

In the seventh inning, North's Brian Levin singled and was moved around by Trittschuh who homered to centerfield. The round-tripper moved the Steelers to within three, and temporarily bolstered the Steeler morale, but it was too little too late as the next three Steelers grounded out to end the game and the Steeler season.

The Steelers were not as "out of the game" as it appeared. On paper, they matched the Comanches eight hits with eight of their own. Defensively, the Steelers were better as they committed one less error.

The Steeler season record stands at 12-16, while the Comanches post a 12-7 record as they go against Collinsville at 1:30 this afternoon at Fletcher Field in Collinsville's Woodland Park.

Kinder to compete in decathlon

Gary Kinder, formerly of Granite City, will compete in the NCAA Track and Field Championships to be held in Provo, Utah June 1-5.

Kinder, grandson of Bill and Vivian Simpson, graduated from Parkway North Senior High School in St. Louis County and is currently a sophomore at the University of Mississippi.

His event, the decathlon, requires all of the track and field skills and he states "That's what makes it most interesting."

In high school, he competed and lettered in five different sports but he always favored track.

As a freshman at "Ole Miss," Kinder competed in four decathlons and finished second, fourth, first and sixth with a high point total of 7,093.

He's improved considerably during the 1981-82 season with wins at the LSU Relays and Kansas Relays and a second place finish at the South Eastern Conference Championships held in Athens, Ga.

His point total of 7,565 at the Kansas Relays qualified him to compete in the NCAA Championships.

Kinder states his best events are the pole vault, javelin, high jump and long jump. His worst — without question — is the 1500 meter run.

Gary is the son of Larry and Carol Kinder of Creve Coeur, Mo.

Cahokia Mounds offers summer 'hands-on' course

Are you looking for an unusual vacation this summer? If so, you may be interested in an archaeological field school offered at Cahokia Mounds historic site in Illinois.

Cahokia, which has been nominated by the U.S. to the UNESCO World Heritage List, was the largest prehistoric city in the United States, including numerous huge temple mounds.

Monks' Mound, the largest prehistoric earthen structure in America, was the center of a thriving civilization from approximately 900 A.D. to 1400 A.D.

Cahokia's field school is one of the few places in the U.S. where nonprofessionals can participate in "hands-on" archaeology. The school is offered each summer, and is open to the general public.

No prior archaeological experience or education is necessary to enroll, and middle-aged adults often work along-side college and high school students at Cahokia.

This summer's excavations will focus on the stockade, a large log wall, much like a fort, that enclosed the "downtown" area of this prehistoric city.

According to Bill Iseninger, staff member at Cahokia, the stockade was built through earlier living areas, so students find abundant pottery, flint tools, animal bones, and other artifacts. House floors, storage pits, and refuse pits are often uncovered, and carefully excavated by participants.

Previous excavations have revealed that the wall was built and re-built at least four times.

The field school is not designed to produce professional archaeologists, but simply to stimulate greater public appreciation of archaeology.

Five two-week sessions are available: June 21 to July 2; July 5 to July 16; July 19 to July 30; August 2 to August 13; and August 16 to August 27.

You'll work eight hours a day, Monday through Friday. Your tools and equipment will be provided, but food, transportation, lodging, and personal expenses must be arranged by you. A free primitive camping area is available nearby.

Tuition is $75.00 for each two-week session. You must be 16 years or older, in good health, and show a genuine interest in archaeology. Younger children may accompany a parent who is enrolled in a session.

Iseninger notes that "more women than men usually enroll in the field school and many teachers take their experiences back to the classroom. Some high school students like to 'try on' archaeology as a profession, to see if they'd like to major in it at college. Many adults are delighted with the opportunity to do something like this, and even retirees have participated."

You will be instructed in the fundamentals of archaeology. Your day will be split between field work (surveying, digging, mapping, photography, and screening) and lab work (washing, sorting, and cataloguing your finds).

For applications and more information, write or call: Cahokia Mounds Museum Society, Box 382, Collinsville, IL 62234. (618) 344-5368. Cahokia Mounds Historic Site is approximately eight miles east of St. Louis.

Endorse bill for insurance bidding

Illinois Insurance Director Philip R. O'Connor has praised the Illinois Senate for its 54-1 passage of a measure to require competitive pricing in workers compensation insurance.

Senate Bill 1496, sponsored by Senators Aldo DeAngelis (R-Olympia Field), John Darco, Jr. (D-Chicago) and Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) would end the practice of the 250 insurance companies selling workers compensation in Illinois agreeing to adhere to the same set of prices.

"This is one reform in one area of workers compensation and will definitely have a healthy effect on the market," said O'Connor.

"Large, as well as small, employers will benefit because competition will force a reflection of the investment income generated over the many years during which workers compensation losses are paid out," he said.

"The Senate has acted decisively and with attention to the needs of our state's hard-pressed employers," O'Connor said.

The bill now goes to the House. If passed by the House, Senate Bill 1496, which has been endorsed by Governor Thompson's Job Council, will go to the governor for his signature.

Carnival a bit too big, and messy, for downtown

As in the case with nearly anything, the carnival which was in downtown Granite City during the holiday period had its good points and its bad points.

It was certainly one of the largest, if not the largest, carnival which has ever come to Granite City, offering a wide assortment of rides and amusements. However, its very size blocked much of the downtown area and, some merchants feel, discouraged business more than it encouraged it. The reason was simple — parking near many of the downtown stores was difficult, if not nearly impossible. One main parking lot in the 1800 block of Edison Avenue was used by the carnival as a pasture for donkeys and those who did use it had to watch their steps, carefully.

While we do not claim to be experts in how to set up and operate a carnival, it seems to us that many of the trucks which blocked downtown streets for six days could have been moved to nearby trucking company lots once the rides and booths were set up, instead of being parked in the streets the whole time. The 1800 block of Delmar Avenue looked like a tractor trailer parking lot and was blocked at both ends the entire time.

Things were not all bad. Those who attended the carnival described the rides as enjoyable, even if they were a little expensive, up to $1.40 a ride. However, those who purchased tickets from Granite City merchants, paid more reasonable rates for the rides, not more than 80-cents, and the money will be used to benefit the city.

City Planner Joseph Parente is to be congratulated for a good job of planning the entire Overfest '82 on a short time schedule. The carnival selected is one of the better ones in the nation and the same one operating the rides for the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tenn.

Several local groups worked hard to provide ethnic foods and refreshments to the carnival and help fulfill the theme, "A Taste of Granite City."

However, now that Overfest '82 is history, all that is left are memories, and one large mess. The downtown area was strewn with trash, food and assorted junk this morning. The Granite City Street Department agreed to go to work immediately to remove the trash and clean the downtown area, something that has been overdue.

At least the mess is on paved streets and the damage will not be as lasting or expensive to repair as the damage caused to the Coolidge Junior High School field on Felling Road from a carnival which operated through a wet and muddy stand a few years ago, leaving deep ruts and damaged grass in its wake.

While the crowds downtown this holiday period were a little disappointing, we hope that the city made money to devote to the future development. We hope that the groups which devoted long hours to manning booths made enough money to make it worth their time and efforts.

Now it is time to get back to business. Once again, there is ample parking space downtown and soon, hopefully, the area will be clean. All efforts should be devoted to making downtown Granite City an even cleaner and more attractive place to shop than ever before.

Feels much of Reagan criticism unjustified

To the Editor:

President Ronald Reagan has been criticized by liberals both in the media and in the political realm, probably more than any other U.S. President in his lifetime.

Liberals have tried to turn every bit of negative social and economic news into an albatross to tie around our President's neck. This trend is likely to continue, so long as President Reagan continues to hold steadfast to his belief in the private enterprise system, a laissez faire approach to government regulations, and in the moral absolutes put forth by the Judeo-Christian ethic upon which this country was founded.

The liberals in the news media are quick to point out high inflation, high unemployment and other problems. However, they are extremely slow to remind us that President Reagan inherited most of these unacceptable situations from his predecessor in the White House.

President Reagan, in a recent speech, as reported on the May 24, 1982 issue of "U.S. News & World Report," made the following remarks: "Let's go to the American people. Let's remind them that we've had the economic mess we faced when we took office (in January, 1981). First time in peacetime, interest rates hit, yes, 21.5 percent."

"Productivity and the rate of growth in the gross national product down for the third year in a row... Let's remind them that in the inflation rate stood at 4.8 percent. (This was at the end of President Gerald Ford's term in office.) By 1980 it was 2 1/2 times as high (12.4 percent)."

"Let's remind them that in December of 1979 the prime rate averaged 6.4 percent. By December, 1980, it reached 21.5 percent, a 200 percent increase."

"Let's remind them that when we took office, unemployment was already climbing and business failures increasing. When the recession hit us, it was our legions from the years of boom and bust, of erratic spending and monetary policy... Let's point out that for all of this, there's been one over-riding cause — we've said it before and let's say it again — government is too big and it spends too much money."

"In the last 10 years, federal spending tripled. In the last five years, federal taxes doubled, largely because of the growth of social programs cost the taxpayers 12 billion dollars; in 1980, nearly 300 billion dollars, an increase of an incredible 2,300 percent. In that same period, prices rose by 278 percent. So real social spending was actually 5 1/2 times higher than in 1960."

"By 1980, one out of every three American families was receiving federal assistance of one sort or another (one out of three families). The budget for the Department of Health and Human Services — 250 billion dollars, roughly the third largest budget in the world, exceeded only by the total budgets of the Soviet Union and the United States."

"Take just one social program as an illustration: Sixteen years ago, we were spending 65 million on food stamps; in 1981, we spent $11.3 billion. That's an increase of more than 18,000 percent!"

Now, include in this picture the interest payments on our tremendous federal debt that reached more than a trillion dollars last year.

Two yearly interest payments of $100 billion dollars, and that's as much as the entire federal budget was just 20 years ago...

In fact, if you take the cost of automatic spending increases and entitlement programs, add them to the interest payments and the federal debt and the other uncontrollable — it means that 70 percent of the entire federal budget is made up of items over which the Congress and the administration are supposed to have no control. I wonder how some of you in the private sector would feel if you were told to rescue a sinking business, but only on the condition that you work with 30 percent of that business' budget and the other 70 percent was off limits."

"So, I think you can begin to understand the difficulty of halting the kind of momentum built up by the federal spending juggernaut over the past few decades," he concluded.

In my opinion, President Reagan has hit several nails directly on the head. Further, I must ask, "Do we want to throw away the gains over the past 16 months?" I'll be one of the first to admit that things have been tough, but I firmly believe that we are over the hump. Things are getting better and yielding to the cries of the bleeding heart liberals to return to big spending and big government.

REPUBLIC STEEL CORPORATION
"Had there been no imports in the month of March, 75,000 additional steelworkers would have been employed."

The writer lists poor quality as the major problem with American products. This is possibly true, however, in an industry as large as a steel manufacturer, machines, not men, do the majority of technical work. American technology, as it has been called, provided these machines. However, the last few years have seen Japanese and European technology prevail.

Because stockholders have continued to require immediate returns on their investments, management has been inclined to make decisions which favor short-term profits, while government-subsidized foreign competitors have favored short-term losses and long-term profits. The government, while it has hindered business by allowing such importation, means of establishing favorable relationships with those foreign governments.

Finally, unions have been the cause of demanding excessive pay raises. It must be noted here that unions receive only the pay raises that the company grants and that unions have been willing to renegotiate contracts in good faith in an effort to save jobs.

True, we steelworkers have, as the writer claims, made our bed, but, unfortunately, management and employers have taken the mattress and boxsprings.

The FORUM

Feels unions not the major cause of layoffs

To the Editor:

As one of many laid off employees of Granite City Steel, I felt compelled to reply to the article with Thursday, May 20, Forum accusing unions as the party responsible for our economic crisis.

It's absurd to think that the major decisions affecting the steel industry are made by unions. The writer claims that unions surpass imports as the major problem with today's economy. Moreover, imports, management and government rank first, second and third.

According to statistics, imports grabbed 23 percent of the U.S. steel market in the first quarter of this year. About 100,000 steelworkers in this country are out of work. According to William J. De Lancy, chairman of Republic Steel Corporation, "Had there been no imports in the month of March, 75,000 additional steelworkers would have been employed."

Among them will be Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison and Mayor Tyrone Echols of Venice.

Accreditation for SIUE dental program

A resolution continuing the "approval" accreditation status of the dental education program of the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine (SIUE) has been adopted by the Commission on Dental Accreditation of the American Dental Association.

President Earl Lazerson of SIUE at Edwardsville was advised last week that the commission took the action at its May meeting on the basis of an accreditation visit to the school and evaluation studies of the dental education program. In another action, the commission adopted a resolution to change the accreditation status of the general practice residency program at SIUE-SDM in East St. Louis from "provisional approval" to "approval".

The one-year program was initiated in 1980. "We are elated that the Commission on Dental Accreditation has voted to continue full approval of our dental education program," President Lazerson said.

"The decision is particularly significant in view of our success last fall in persuading the Illinois Board of Higher Education that the School of Dental Medicine should be continued. It is like receiving a double vote of confidence."

Dr. Herbert C. Butts, dean of the dental school, said the school is pleased with the commission's favorable comments on the faculty, staff and students, as well as the academic program. SIUE students consistently have had the highest "pass rate" of all Illinois dental school graduates on state board examinations.

Dr. Butts added that the accreditation team which visited the Alton campus also commended the School of Dental Medicine "for its exceptionally strong admissions process." The number of applications for SIUE-SDM has remained stable "at a high level," while applications at other dental schools have decreased.

Vice-President and Provost Barbara Tetters also expressed pleasure with the accreditation report, emphasizing that the faculty meeting the mission of the school to graduate dentists who can and, in fact, do provide needed dental health care services to the people of Central and Southern Illinois.

Dr. Tetters also said the report gave special mention to several unique features in the dental school's curriculum. "According to the report, the overall curricular content of the program is considered to be most adequate in terms of both breadth and scope," she said.

Dr. Butts explained that the American Dental Association's accreditation cycle, formerly seven years, has been extended to 10 years, with a "paper" review at the midway point, in five years. According to this schedule, the next accreditation site visit at the Alton campus will be in 1992.

SIUE-SDM admitted its first class of 24 students in 1972, and three years later, before that first class graduated, the ADA's Commission on Accreditation granted the school "approval" status, the highest accreditation classification authorized. Beginning with a three-year curriculum, the school officially changed to a four-year program in 1978, and the first four-year class will graduate in June of the 235 graduates of the School, 200 are in non-military dental practice, and over 65 percent have located in Central and Southern Illinois, within 100 miles of the Alton campus.

Nigeria wins loan
A $67 million World Bank loan has been granted to Nigeria for a project to improve water supply and sanitation in Onitsha, one of the country's fastest-growing urban centers.

Denarius silver and gold
In ancient Rome the basic coin was the denarius, weighing one-twentieth of a troy ounce. The Romans initially minted both a gold and silver denarius, the value of the gold coin being 25 times as great as the silver pieces.

Angeles, though. He's given up his apartment in New York but dreams of buying another so he'll have a base.

That will have to wait until he's completed the sequel to "Porky's," in which Pee Wee and Wendy become boyfriend and girlfriend and try to put on a play that the adults think is a might too bawdy.

And speaking of sequels, after several years of discussions it appears as though the "Room 222" crowd will be reunited for a recap of where they have been since the series went off the air a decade ago. The two-hour movie was the idea of JUDY STRANGIS from the original cast. If all goes well, they could even get another series from it.

MORGAN FAIRCHILD has been tapped by ERIK ESTRADA to play his lady love in "Honeyboy," the TV movie with a boxing motif that the "CHIPS" star is filming for NBC. He's also producer so Morgan will have to be nice.

Preview audiences say that "Hanky Panky," starring GILDA RADNER and GENE WILDER looks like a winner. There's already talk that the two stars will team again for "Woodrow Wilson Dime," although "Hanky" has yet to be released. When you've got a winning team, go for it.

RAQUEL WELCH has been looking for changes in her life. After she did so well replacing LAUREN BACALL in "Woman of the Year" on Broadway, Raquel wants more of the footlights. To show she's serious Raquel has put her Beverly Hills mansion up for sale, with an eye toward a new base in Gotham. The asking price is a cool $16 million.

Waterworks a landmark
The Old Waterworks in Bethlehem, Pa., the first municipal pumping system to provide drinking and washing water in the American Colonies, was recently designated a National Historic Landmark. The system was devised in 1754 to transfer spring water from the Monocacy Creek flood plain to a Moravian settlement on the bluff above.
